

The Fifth Bi-Annual Meeting of the Elijah Board of World Religious Leaders, Oxford (UK), March 2012

On the final day of the meeting, leaders were asked to reflect on what had been accomplished. They were asked to consider three questions:

- 1. What does Interreligious Friendship mean to you?
- 2. How do you practise Interreligious Friendship?
- 3. What messages and practices of Interreligious Friendship can you take back from this meeting to your community?

Some chose to respond independently to each question while others integrated their answers.

Dr Adamou Njoya

- 1. To reach the heart of the communion with the creator: to achieve the noble duty, joining man and the above, faith and action.
- 2. In my ideas, in my thinking, in my actions and activities the other always will be present; the human being is at the centre.
- 3. I shall tell my community that over the world there are people working for friendship. That means doing what we are doing in applying ethics with the base of human beings as the centre of love, of acts.
